CITY NEWS.

This afternoon the remains of Judge George F. Gordon was conveyed to Crown Hill, funeral services first being held at the residence by Rev. H. A. Edson, of Memorial church. Specially impressive was the music by the quartette consisting of Mrs Hammond, Miss Marcia Williard, P. J. T. White and Sam Morrison. R. J. T. White and Sam Morrison.

Out in the Street

About half past five o'clock this morning the family of Mr Murphy, on North Mis-sissippi street, were forced to seek protection from Hon James B. Ryan, consequent upon the ill-treatment of the husband and father, who it is supposed returned home in an intoxicated condition. The neighborhood was considerably exercised over the disturbance, and the foule efforts to summon a police office added to their mesentment.

A $2,000 Verdict.

In the United States court the jury in the suit of Geo. VanHunter against the P. C. & St. L. railway to-day brought in a verdict for the plain damages. The case has attracted more than ordinary interest and its final disposition demonstrates that individuals have content rights which individuals have certain rights which even railroad corporations are obliged to recognize. In this particular instance the plaintiff had a first class ticket, which he refused to give up unless accommodated with a seat in the ladies' car, and was accordingly put off the train per force.

Further from the McKenzie Fight. New York, November 29 -A dispatch New York, November 29—A dispatch dated in the field November 25, via. Fort Fetterman, 27, gives following additional particulars of Gen. McKenzief flight on the 25th. The hostiles had been having a war dance all night and were not taken by surprise by the attack which was made at sunrise. The village was located in a canyon running nearly north and south it contained about two hundred lodges with perhaps five hundred warriors. Gen with perhaps five hundred warriors. Gen Mackenzie's fighting force numbered nearly three thousand men. Most of the enlisted Indians behaved well at the start, enitsted Indians behaved well at the start, but after the first heat of the charge very many of them relapsed into apparent indifference to everything except plundering the abandoned tepees of the Cheyennes, and trying to run off our horses. About 20 Indians that can be counted were killed, and doubtless many more have fallen behind rocks. About five or six of our horses have hear killed. our horses have been killed. The following is a partial list of casualties: killed, Lt. John McKinny, 4th cavelry, Corporal Lt. John McKinny, 4th cavelry, Corporal Ryan, Co. D., private Keller, Co. E. Wounded, ergeant Thomas H. MISSOURI. Glaring Election Frauds Discovered

St. Louis, November 29.-The commissiners appointed by the circuit court to recount the vote cast on the 22d of Au-gust last, at the election for and against what was known as the scheme and charter, that is a scheme to separate the city from the county and a new charter for the city have unearthed numerous irregularities, very gross blunders by judges of election, and frauds of the most startling character. and frauds of the most startling character. There doesn't seem to be any doubt but that the scheme and charter proposition was carried by a large majority of the legality cast votes, but frauds perpetrated in the interest of the opposition to that project defeated it. As an instance of the frauds committed, Wm. Kelly and William Roper, two judges of election at central precinct, 9th ward, have made depositions to the effect that they took the ballots for the scheme and charter. the ballots for the scheme and charter from the ballot box and substituted ballots against the proposition for them.
They also deposited ballots in the boxes against that measure, numbering and crediting them to persons who did not vote at all. They swear that perhaps not more than 600 votes were cast at their roll a majority of which were for the poll, a majority of which were for the scheme and charter, yet they returned a vote of 83 for and 1 307 against.

SENATOR MORTON ON THE SITUATION.

In conversation to-night Senator Morton said he thought he should make an effort immediately on the assembling of congress to get the senate to take up and pass the bill which he introduced at the last session, to provide for and regulate the session, to provide for and regulate the counting of the electoral vote. He predicts that congress at this session will entirely revise the electoral college system, and that the task will be accomplished, and a president elected before the 5th of March without any conflict or bloodshed. He has evidently been studying up the South Carolina situation, and has worked out the cue for his less abterebren. He says the republicans in the has worked out the cue for his less able brethren. He says the republicans in the legislature there have good precedent to prove they have a quorum. There are 116 members elected. They have 60. That is a quorum of the actual membership, and he says congress in 1862 and 1863 and the Indiana legislature, under his seal, in 1869, established the precedent that a quorum was a certain part of the actual and not of the possible membership. Morton has shaved off his membership. Morton has shaved off his mustache, is much better in health and looks ten years younger than at the close of last session

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times, in a letter to that journal under date of November 22nd, says on Monday, November 2nd, Mr. Boker, American minister to Russia, was suddenly informed that the czar desired to see him at Tzorskoselo. As it is unusual for diplomats below the rank of ambassador to be admitted to such audiences every imaginable rumor was circulated as every imaginable rumor was circulated as to what passed between the czar and the American minister. Although the truth has not officially transpired. I believe the has not officially transpired. I believe the czar's object was simply to beg Boker to communicate to President Grant the fact of the departure of the Russian squadron for America. There is no doubt that the squadron has sailed, and although the position of commander of a naval force ordered to seek refuge in foreign parts on the eve of war can not be enviable, it is difficult to see what else Russia could do as even the Turkish navy alone would do, as even the Turkish navy alone would be sufficient to dispose of any ships which Russia could bring into action.

THE knowledge that you have provided a poor neighbor with a dinner, will give zest to your own to-morrow.

REALLY the Sentinel is becoming lamb-like in its mildness. Even its rooster seems to be less defiant.

THE South Carolina legislature, which is protected by federal troops, is composed of fifty-five blacks and three whites. What do they have so many whites for?

A PRIVATE letter from a gentleman at Washington, who is in a position to know the sentiments of the democrats, says: "There is a great deal of sup-"pressed excitement here, but no talk "of blood."

GEORGE FRANCIS TRAIN, who now claims to hold the power over life and death, offers to pull Tweed through if he will adopt a vegetable diet and take two Turkish baths a day. George Francis ought to go to Louisiana and operate on the returning board.

THE trouble about ineligible electors is pretty well divided between both parties. North Carolina and Missouri each throw out one and this will put a period to the claim that the opposing candidate is elected. In Rhode Island the supreme court having decided that Mr. Corliss was ineligible, he having been a centennial commissioner, the governor has called a meeting of the legislature to fill the vacancy.

INDIANA might have been counted for Hayes just as well as not. Where is Col. Friedley and what is the matter with him that he never thought of the plan of the North Carolina chairman. He says, "throw out twenty-three counties and don't count eight not heard from and Hayes is elected." He must be the man who was fishing? "How many have you caught?" "Well, when I get this one I'm after and two more I'll have three." This is such an easy way of flxing things up. It wouldn't require the throwing out of many counties in this state.

It is claimed by republican organs that the changes in the votes of Louisiana could not have been produced legitimately. The Springfield Republican estimates that with the same ratio of increase and change that took place in New England, Tilden's majority in Louisiana would be over 30,000; or taking the returning board figures of the 1872, election which the president characterized as a gigantic fraud, the democratic majority would be nearly 11,000. It adds: "We suppose there are not "very many people who believe that "the republican party in Louisiana is "less likely to have lost strength, in the "past four years, than the republican "in New England."

THE official count in Florida shows a majority of forty-two for Gov. Hayes on the face of the returns. This does not except any votes on either side that are claimed to be fraudulent, nor does it include Dade county, which is thought to be about even. The democrats claim twenth-three more votes in Clay county, but allowing this the result is the same. The republicans protest against counting a number of polls in various counties, while the democrats insist that a false return has been made from Baker county, where they should have 95 majority, making a difference of 135 votes. If this is counted, and the board will have to examine the case, Tilden will be elected. Beyond that the probability is that if votes are thrown out on one side they can be overbalanced on the other. The question about Florida can not be considered settled

THE spectacle of United States troops taking possession of the South Carolina state bouse at midnight and guarding the entrance against all who had not passes issued by a governor's private secretary or a penitentiary superintendent, is certainly a humiliating one. The dispersal of the Penn legislature, by Do Trobriand, pales, into insignificance by the side of the events of yesterday. There was no violence and it is idle to assume that the public peace was threatened. Undoubtedly there was great excitement and there would be great excitement here under similar circumstances. But who would think of calling troops into Indiana to provide for a possible breach of the peace? Who would defend it? If the sheriff of this county, aided by the police and constabulary, could not maintain order, the militia would be called out, and not until every possible resource had failed would the federal authorities be called upon. Why is not the same thing done in South Carolina by the party which claims to be the majority. It has the officers and the men, and why are not the usual appliances of law depended upon to prevent or restrain violence?

The reason is simply that it is intended to put Governor Chamberlain into office whether he is elected or not. The events of yesterday warrant no other conclusion. If he is elected, the law ought to declare it, but if it does not, that no justification for the use of military power. If the law is not fairly administered and an injustice is done, it is not to be remedied by committing another wrong. Two wrongs never made a right, and it is the duty of those who have been injured to sub-But how different mit. action. Assuming the threatened violence, and the man has full power to seize upon the office to which his right is disputed. He is no fair judge, his self-interest makes that impossible, yet this power is given him to do what he pleases and to set his will above the law and its courts. Refusing admission into the state house to a sufficient number of legislators to give his party a majority, and utterly ignoring the law that requires legislative bodies to judge of the qualifications of their own members, he proceeds to form a legislature out of a minority of the members. Even throwing out the counties refused by the returning board, his party has not a majority of the members actually elected and is not a legal legislature. The other side has also organized a legislature which is to be regretted, though on its face it is more legally the legislature than the other. It is scarcely questionable that the administration will sustain the Chamberlain dynasty, no matter what it may do, and we are to have the spectacle, in this centennial year, of a state governed by bayonets as directly as the eagles of Rome once ruled the world. If any one wishes to realize the enormity of this, let him conceive how he would think and feel if the same thing was done in our own city.

A MISTAKE ON BOTH SIDES. The democrats complain with reason. of the immediate and unlimited admission to the right of suffrage of the enfranchised slaves of the south. It poured into the voting element of the country an adulteration of ignorance and incapability which could not possibly fail of mischief. There were many negroes, no doubt, as capable of taking an intelligent interest in the direction of the government as many whites, but the proportion was so small, that the balance of inadequacy was large, and the franchise was thus seriously abused. No one needs to be told that in a free government the domination of popular intelligence and competency must be assured. If it is uncertai, peril must go with the uncertainty, for incompetency makes or meets danger at every step. Every addition of unfitting elements is an increase of the possibility that in some emergency the domination of intelligence may be disturbed. The debasing elements may bold the balance of power between divisions of the better ones, and make the government, for the time, the exposition of the incapable and not of the capable population. The unlimited allowance of negro suffrage, with no discrimination as to qualifications, pushed the nation a long step towards this danger. The intention of Mr. Sumner, who was most prominent in the act, was to provide the freedman with the means of protecting himself from the prejudices and power of the whites, but it has failed lamentably so far. We have all the evil of the suffrage adulteration and very little of its expected good. A discriminating and gradual admission to the franchise would have reversed this condition, but the headlong philanthropy of the anti-slavery leaders would hear of no limitation. All must come in, and all at once. It was a big mistake and many feel it so who supported it. But it had a precedent. Unhappily, the evil of that precedent taught no lesson to those who followed it. In this state and many others the democracy, in amending the state constitutions, admitted to the polls foreigners who had resided here but one year, aliens who had only declared a purpose to be citizens but were under no obligation of citizenship. It was a sorrowful act for the country. Not one European emigrant in a thousand can possibly get in a year such an acquaintance with our institutions as will qualify him to take part intelligently in the travel of the north does.

direction of the government. Instead of requiring, as the national law wisely does, a residence long enough to give a reasonable opportunity to learn what is necessary to an intelligent vote, the time was reduced to practically none at all, for a poor emigrant in the first year has little leisure from working for his support to learn anything. But worse still, the right to a voice in the control of the government is given to aliens who owe no allegiance to it. This is far worse than the negro suffrage blunder. Voting is almost the only badge and distinction of citizenship, and to give it to those who are not citizens, but still subjects of a foreign power, in process of changing to citizens, is directly at war with the spirit of our constitution, with the needs of the country and with common sense.

THE POLE.

Dr. Hayes, the arctic explorer and lecturer, says, in the New York Herald, that the English polar expedition, recently returned, over which such a storm of prophetic fuss was made, lacked pluck and seems to be trying to excuse its failure by falsehood. That's about the pith of it. He don't believe the story of ice fifty or a hundred feet thick, and as many years old, the accumulation of many freezings interrupted by no thawings. The "Palaeo-"crystic sea,"-that is the "ancient ice "sea"-is a humbug, and there was no more in the way of the Alert and her associate than there was in the way of Gov. Chamberlain is elected troops are the Advance or the real neither of them found any such venerable barrier of ice. With the same advantages he believes the American vessels would have got to the pole. There is something more than sarcasm in the Doctor's animadversion, for it is queer that a vessel provided for two years more of exploration should have given up at the outset and turned back with its finger in its mouth and a tale of obstructions that no other explorers have ever seen. But for all that it won't do to trust skeptical criticism very far. There were sound scientists in the expedition and presumably as plucky men as those that reached 82° with Hall or 82° 30' with Parry. There is no reason to supthat, they created an pose arctic condition to suit their fainting resolution and save their credit. For while one division of the sledge parties made satisfactory progress and another tild fairly, the direct northern division found the ice so rough, from the breaks where unequal masses had joined or been heaped together, that it had to make a road and achieved an actual advance towards the pole of only a mile a day. And it saw no open water except between masses of the "palaeocrystic" covering of the sea. It got to latitude 83° 20', the highest point ever reached we believe, though not greatly in advance of the attainment of the Polaries. By the way, it is worth noting that 83° seems to be a sort of boundary of northern discovery. Parry got very nearly that high in the east. Kane's man Morton saw a mountain 3 little short of that latitude. Hall climbed to about that line, the Austrian expedition stopped there, and the best equipped expedition of all only went twenty miles beyond it.

> Hall found no open water where Kane's men saw an apparently illimitable sea, free of ice. It was all solid or broken only by little channels, where the Polaris men went up through Kennedy's channel. But open water was confidently credited if not positively a certained, a league or so further north, Now the last expedition gets a little further north, near enough to see Hall's open water retreating from Kane's line. but finds none. All is ice, and thicker than anybody ever saw before except in a berg. The existence of an open Polar sea is thus either wholly disproved or driven back still further towards the pole. There was good reason to believe in it till now, But it appears to be a dubious affair, or at least a trifling affair, when a position that would have put Kane in a fine sailing sea puts the British explorets in ice at has been free ing for a life time. It is possible that the ice border of the supposititious sea widens in some years and melts away in others, and that for the present the Smith sound road to the pole, between our continent and Greenland, is closed and has been closed since Kane left it, while the Spitzbergen or eastern road may be less obdurate. Possibly there may is a sort of periodic change of the width of this ice belt between the eastern and western sides, sometimes making the better chances of access to the pole on one, sometimes on the other. The late expedition traced some six hundred miles of the southern coast of a sea hitherto unknown, and has thus given us a pretty fair idea that the poie is surrounded at an irregular distance of five or six hundred miles, by land, through which there are several openings, as if between islands, which may sometime be made the means of solving the only great geographical problem of which any solution is possible, the condition of the region directly about the north pole. The Antaratic centre seems utterly inaccessible. The ice there has never shown appearance of penetrability. The astronomer Proctor wants the next exploration to try the south pole, but the concurrent experience of all who have ever ventured far into that region is that water preponderates there as largely as land does in the north, and being always frozen affords no such access as the land

"Our Boys" is still holding the boards at the Academy, and will continue until re-placed by Carlberg's Italian opera Friday evening. The cast remains unchanged. To-night, at the Grand opera house, "Uncle Toms Cabin" will be presented by the Miles company, from Circinnati, and a material feature will be the intro-duction of the New Orleans jubilee sing-ers. At the Metropolitan, that genuine good singer, Nully Pieris, those excellent good singer, Nully Pieris, those excellent gymbasis, the LaRue family, and the spa-cial favorite, Anna Fox, together with Manchester and Jennings, are satisfying audiences in the specialty line. The pro-gram ends nightly with the sensational drama, "Euchre," Messrs. Schneider, Lip-man and others in the leading roles. Lipman's make up as "Mosier," is one of Lipman's make up as "Mosier," is one of genuine surprise, and he displays unusual tact in personating the character.

Petty Swindlers.

A fellow giving the name of Sharon few days ago played on the philanthropy of Rev. L.G. Hay, Maj. Gordon and others and by representing he had household goods stored at Foster's, upon which he was unable to pay the storage, got letters from these gentlemen asking Gen. Foster to be lenient until times were better. The fellow is an impostor. He has no goods fellow is an impostor. He has no goods stored, and by aid of these letters he has played upon philanthropic credulity to a material amount. Another trick has eveloped. A re round among families offering to sell wood. If a load is ordered he gives the number to some wood peddler upon the the market, and while the real owner is unloading as per order collects the money and disappears.

Railroad Improvement.

The Vincennes railroad company is filling under the bridge over the lower mouth of the bayou to make a solid road way there. The levee above the bridge, near the Vandalia road, cuts off the upper mouth of the bayou, so that there never can be a current in it except from back water, and - solid roadbed with a little culvert will be a decided gain over the bridge. The same company has driven rows of piles at each abutment, an i on each side of the two piers, apparently each side of the two piers, apparently with a view to replace the present wooden bridge with a better one. The west abutbridge with a better one. The west abutment of the Ray street bridge over the creek is done. The mouth of the sewer makes the east abutment, and the bridge might be completed now if desired.

The Congregationalists will unite in union services to-morrow morning at Mayflower church, Rev. O. S. Dean officiating; Rev. Wm. A. Bartlett will preach for the Presbyterians at the Second church, Rev. G. S. Tomlinson for the Christians at the central church, and G. D. Watson for the Methodist at Roberts Park church. The congregations of the Episcopal churches will Christ church, the literary societies of W. C. University will be addressed Thanksgiving night by Rev. E B. Mason, of this city, and the annual meeting of the Indianapolis benevolent society will be held to-morrow night at the First Baptist church.

Comfort for Uneasy Stomachs.

That incomparable anti-dyspeptic cordial, earminative and apetizer, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, yields comfort to the uneasy stomach with a legree of promptitude most gratifying to the victim of undi estion. The eradication of dyspepsia by the Bitters is, of course, accompanied by the disappearance of every one of its panied by the disappearance of every one of the multifarious and puzzling symptoms, among which may be mentioused as the most prominent, hesitburn, flatulence, abdominal oppression after cating, and sinking at other times, palpitations of the heart, water brash, vertigo, sick headache and ususea. Hostetter's litter tone and regulate the various organs which assist in the processes of assimilation, secretion and eventation fortify the system against waist. sist in the processes of assimilation, secretion and evacuation, fortify the system avainst relations tevers, and develop in the enf ebled system fresh stores of viality. Roberts Park church was again crowded last night, and to all outward appearances a great deal of religious interest is being awakened throughout the city is a result of these and other services.

of these and other services.

The exercises consist of music, prayers and an address, which last evening was delivered by Dr. Manhall, from the text "Be ye doers of the Word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selve." The subject was handled in a practical manner by the speaker and commanded the closest attention during its delivery. The sermon was followed by prayer and singing after which the audience was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Dr. Holliday.

THE BUSINESS

And TELEGRAPH INSTITUTE of this City

Has been thoroughly remodeled and refitted under the personal direction of Prof. KENNEDY, who has purchased a half interest in this old and well established school.

Prof. KENNEDY's late work on Book-keeping is admitted by all to be the most practical book of its kind in existence. His reputation as an expert book-keeper is universally acknowledged by all practical accountants, and his success as a classical and busines jeducator stands unrivaled in the State of Indiana, where he has taught for the last twenty-five years. The services of Prof. J. Tallafers have been secured for the coming year as Teacher of Shorthand, Telegraphy and Penmanship. The bare mention of this gentleman's name is sufficient, for his reputation in his specialties is known from New York to San Francisco.

Prof. G. W. HENSLEY, a member of the firm, is well known in the city of Indianapolis for his integrity, gentlemanly deportment, business accomplishments and earnest devotion to his profession.

We propose to offer to the public more real

The Penney ill fame case, pending be-fore the mayor, went by default this fore-noon, much to the disgust of several "young bloods" present to hear the testi-mony. A fine of fifteen dollars and costs

A marriage license to day was issued to Will F Keay, deputy county recorder, and Laura A. Shallenberger. To-morrow afternoon at 430, within Christ church, . T. Tinker and Miss Ada Dunn will be united in marriage.

Mrs. John Quinn, living on Maryland street, near West, yesterday, was found dead in her bed, and after investigation developed she had taken an overdose of morphine. Suicidal intent was first claimed, owing to domestic infelicity, but this is now anthonistival denied. this is now authoritatively denied.

The fellow Nolan, whose fraudulent dealings were noted yesterday, attempted the same game later in the day, of presenting a worthless check on the Indiana National bank, to Ohler, a West Washington street jeweler, in exchange for a clock. The fellow was not so successful in this attempt, but escaped arrest.

Scores of democrats visited the state offices to-day to get consolation over the situ-ation of political affairs in the south, but got little consolation from this source. One fellow more hopeful than the rest offered to wager $5 that Tilden would get one electoral vote in Florida, but he found no takers in that crowd.

chased some distance, and his overcoat and dress coat slashed through in several places. Patrolman Clarke and MacDonaid finally overpowerd and disarmed Hammons, and he was locked up for drunkeness, carrying concealed weapens and argault. To-day the mayor directed that an "intent to kill" be added, and the work of reclamation was forwarded to the grand jury.

The Union Prayer Meeting.

The attendance upon the union prayer meeting at Plymonth church to-day was fully as large as that of yesterday, and the exercises of a more varied and interesting character. After several songs had been sung and prayers offered written petitions were presented and read asking the prayers of the meeting for a work of revival in Ft. Wayne; for the conversion of four nephews and their families; by a wife too ill to attend the services asking that her husband may be remembered, who, although a respector of religion, yet has no hope in Christ; for a railroad officer whose aged mother has long been anxious for his conversion; by a sister for three brothers; by a husband for an unconverted wife; by a mother for a man who is trying to lead her son astray; for a young man in a distant state far from home and religious influence: by a lady for a gentleman friend; for a young man who is a slave to drink; by a mother for the conversion of Simon McCarty.

The chairman, Dr. Munhall, then read the third chapter of Paul's epistle to the Ephesians, dwelling more particularly upon the verse. "And to know the love The Union Prayer Meeting.

the third chapter of Paul's epistle to the Ephesians, dwelling more particularly upon the verse, "And to know the love of Christ, which passeth knowledge, that ye might be filled with the fullness of God." The speaker asked his hearers to pray for him personally that God would fill him with the fulness of His grace. Dr. Thayer, of Vincennes, said christians are beginning to feel their own weakness, their own nakedness and inability, that are beginning to feel their own weakness, their own nakedness and inability, that the arm of flesh is too short, too weak and too powerless to do anything of itself. Great is the wickedness in this city and land, but equally great is the power of Jehovah. God says to the christians of Indianapolis, bring all the tithes into the store house and prove me and see if I will not pour you out such a blessing that you will

I will not pour you out such a blessing that you will not have room to contain it. Drs. De La Matyr and Van Doren spoke briefly upon the thoughts suggested in the reading of the scriptural lesson, and were followed by Dr. Watson who said whom Drn. by Dr. Watson, who said when Paul prayed that the church might be filled with the fullness of God it was dictated by the Holy Ghost in his heart. It was God asking the spirit to ask for that which God was willing to do. I believe that God loves us all here this morning just as dearly as He loved the Christian church, and if this is so we are ust, as close to God's heart as we are will-

The points advanced by the speaker were, not to regard iniquity in our hearts and to yield our wills up to God. Before dismissing the audience it was announced that the prayer meeting on to-morrow (Thanksgiving) would be held at 9:30 o'clock instead of 11:30, as on other days.

Indianapolis Benevolent Society. A preliminary meeting of the Indianapo-lis Benevolent Society was held last eve-ning prior to revival services in Robert's Park church, and the character of the society and its methods of working were generally discussed. The question of cogenerally discussed. The question of co-operation with the township trustees to relieve the city of impostors was ap-proved, and it was ordered hold a meeting in the First Baptist church to-morrow evening for reorganization, etc. An adjournment was then had until 10 a. m. to-day. This morning during the meeting, T. H. Sharpe, I. C. Hays, Geo. W. Alexander, Charles P. Jacobs and James Sutton were directed to arrange a James Sutton were directed to arrange a program for the meeting to-morrow eve-ning, and it was resolved to make the districts much smaller and increase the number of visitors, so that a personal visitation could be made upon every applicant for aid, and by this means shut out completely the unworthy. It is the intention, after the reorganization to-morrow evening, to make reorganization to morrow evening, to make a thorough and systematic canvass of the north part of the city, for clothing, piece goods, etc., besides money. The ladies' relief society, as heretofore, will continue work upon the south side. At the meeting to morrow evening ad-eresses are expected from Major Gordon, Dr. DeLaMatyr, Rev. H. A. Edson and others. Will C. Smock will have charge of the music, and a very general atten-dance of the benevolently inclined is not only desirable, but anticipated. "Bull-Dozed."

The Robinson and Jones grand larceny case is still occupying a jury in the criminal court. This forenoon the attorneys for the defense, Knefler and Cropsey, intimated that Ben. Thornton, one of the state's witnesses, had attempted to "buildoze" one of the witnesses for the defense, contrary to express order of the court, and the "bull-dozed" witness was introduced to show in what manner Thornton commanded her to testify. The attorneys skirmished until the court estopped by ordering the "bull-dozer" to be arraigned under regular contempt proceedings, case is still occupying a jury in the crimiunder regular contempt proceedings, which will be done after the present case has terminated. Robinson and Jones, as perhaps may not be generally known, are indicted for the burglary and robbery of Maurice & Spohr's shoe store, and their attorneys are making a hard-pan effort to secure acquittal.

The State Building at the Centennial. A gentleman in Philadelphia writes a friend in this city: "There does not seem friend in this city: "There does not seem to be any one in charge of things at the Indiana building (embracing paintings, photographs, furniture, an organ from Benham's, etc.). Professor Cox and Mr. Greene have both departed. The building is left in the hands of Dr. Allen for sale, but he tells me he knows nothing about its contents. Professor Campbell, who has some position in connection with the cent-nnial commission, says he knows nothing about these things. The Indiana exhibits in the agricultural hall and mineral annex are in sion, says he knows nothing about these things. The Indiana exhibits in the agricultural hall and mineral annex are in charge of a Mr. Dietz, for sale, and he says he knows nothing about the building. The educational exhibit in the main building has been packed and shipped, and finally I have the key of the state building, given me by the colored janitor who has also departed."

No. 208 Ob Iterated.

This forencon Tom Burns, 208 West Washington street, was placed upon trial for grand larceny, the complaint consisting in stealing several gallons of whisky from Brinkman, on north Tennessee steet. Burns was flanked by three lawyers, Klingensmith, Duncan and Mitchell and Klingersmith, Duncan and Mitchell, and the trial ended with his commitment on criminal process. The defense attempted to have the general nuisance and house of ill fame complaints dismissed, after the commitment, but finding the city determined upon prosecution, compromised by agreeing to cose the ranche. The No. 208 deadfall is therefore no more. No action was taken James Hammons, registered as John Hammond, the colored cook for the Gillespie boarding house. ### TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

We, the undersigned, citizens of Philadelphia take pleasure in certifying that Dr. F. A. Von MOSCHZISKER has been a resident of our city for some years, during which he has acquired a distinguished reputation as a prastitioner in diseases of the EYE, EAR and THROAT. He has, also, during some time past, been Professor and Clinical Operator in one of our Medical Institutions. Having made known to us that he proposes to visit other cities, in order to enlarge his already extensive experience and afford those persons who need his services and cannot leave home for an opportunity of consulting him, we recommend him to the cordial support of the press and the confidence of the communities he may see fit to visit. We willing, yindorse him, that he may not be placed by those to whom he is a stranger in the category of traveling physicians, and that he may at once command the confidence which is his due, without the otherwise necessarily prolonged residence in each place:

DR. VON MOSCHZISKER brings me letters of introduction from gentlemen of character and standing. They speak highly of his skill and success to the treatment of diseases of the Eye and Earand those of the Respiratory Organs, and of his attaluments as a paysician. He has devoted many years of study to the subject which he has made a specialty. In addition to the knowledge he has gained from his reading and observation in this and other countries, he has the advantage of a large and varied experience, with the aid of all appliances which have been devised to a perfect examination of it. May 25, 1874.

From his treatment of cases under my observation and experience, I think he can give relief in all cases which admit of remedy.
